ON-SIDE KICK A FEAT

For a Touchdown.

In Augusta on November 4 Carolina walloped the Georgia Medical College their second gridiron battle score of 19 to 5. Last season same team was defeated on the grounds by a small margin, as year's game was a pleasant surprise us all.

The teams seemed quite matched at the opening of the though Georgia was much headier the line. After a short time Carolina got the ball on a fumble made a spectacular run of 95 yards for a touchdown. This put into the Carolina men and Georgia
"easy meat" from them on.

However, Georgia's back field
let up in their playing, and Carolina sustained gains also scored a touchdown. J. A. Brown made a perfect pass to W. W. Brown for a 20 yard gain. The backs also made able gains around our ends. Carolina again scored a touchdown during remainder of this half.

Story Ideas

Story Ideas I want to write on before end of semester

- Columbia Canal & The Three Rivers Greenway
 - The region's signature riverfront vision keeps dragging; is the 2015-flood repair + greenway build-out finally on a credible path?
 - Is Columbia finally going to finish this after 30 yrs? Prolly not
- USC Sustainability is a sham.
 - USC doesn't care about sustainability, so quit bragging about it.
- USC's mandatory Leadership workshops for orgs
 - USC now expects recognized student org leaders to complete trainings/workshops — but do generic, required workshops meaningfully improve org outcomes?
 - Bad idea. Studies already show these do little for orgs except waste their time and add bureaucratic processes in place
- SC's Alcohol Law & Bars shutting down
 - This is irritating to me. Some of my fave places are closing...
 - Liquor-liability insurance mandates + litigation climate drove premiums sky-high, shuttering places statewide; lawmakers tweaked rules in 2025 — is it helping yet?
- USC's Vending Machine Problem is out of hand
 - Different vendors, no consistent error reporting method. USC is worse than any other institution I have ever toured or attended
 - USC runs separate refund forms for drink and snack machines via CarolinaCard Toolbox (students must specify location; returning product may be required).
 - Major beverage vendors like Pepsi Equipment Service and Canteen also run their own service/refund ticketing, creating parallel paths.
